City Verifying Status

COUNCIL PLANS REVIEW DURING MARCH 21 MEET

City Secretary Buddy Fuller is verifying the 136 signatures on a petition submitted last week which seeks a Charter election on whether the city police chief's job is appointive or elective.

He told The Herald Wednesday that he would prepare a verification report for the next regular meeting of the City Council Tuesday, March 21.

City Councilmen Tuesday in a regular meeting discussed a 2½ page opinion by the City Attorney on the petition submitted by Frank V. Chapman Jr., former city police chief fired by a 3-2 Council vote a few months ago.

City Atty. Charles C. Smith Jr.'s opinion recommended that the election be "at the earliest practical date", not less than 30 days nor more than 90 days after passage of an ordinance after March 7 calling the election by the City Council.

10 PERCENT REQUIRED

Ten percent of the City's qualified voters are required to make a legal petition for a vote to change the City Charter.

The Charter now requires that the job of city police chief, as well as city secretary, public works superintendent, water and sewer system head and all city administrative heads and employees be appointed by the City Council.

Fuller said he had received a County voter registration list Monday, the means he is using to check out each petition signature. There is no longer any City Poll tax list, its use eliminated last year by law, he pointed out.

Several technical requirements must be met, by the present City Charter, before a Charter referendum can be called.

Smith noted that a publication of the proposed change must be published in the local newspaper two consecutive weeks and a substantial part of the proposed Charter change be included.

MAIL COPY

A copy of the Council resolution is required to go to each qualified voter in the city 30 days prior to the date of an election.

Copies of the City Attorney's opinion were sent to Mayor Bassel Wilson, Councilmen R. W. Wells, Lester Turner, J. C. Marek, Lawrence Zotz, and Starrett Hickman as well as to Chapman, Marek, Walter L. Lester, Jack W. Tumlinson and Sidney H. Richardson, all of Cameron, the latter five listed in the petition papers as a "Committee of Petitioners."

Fuller noted that a qualified voter is required to have a legal residence in Texas of one year and in the City six months.

WHO KNOWS? Rummaging in the files this week, someone came up with a piece of Biblical trivia that is beyond our ken, since we're not Bible scholars.

The question is posed: "Did Noah leave his grandpa, Methuselah, out in the flood to drown?"

Somebody scanned Genesis and penned:

"Genesis 5:25-Methuselah was 187 years old when his son Lamech was born.

"Genesis 5:28 Lamech was 182 years old when his son Noah was born.

"Genesis 7:11 The flood came when Noah was 600 years old, and it started on February 17.

"Therefore, when the flood started, Methuselah was 969

"Genesis 5:27 Methuselah died at the age of 969

"Therefore, if he died after the 17th day of February, he drowned. If he died before that date, he died a natural death. Which was it?

107-107-107

A usual fascination with numbers escapes us, since Biblical ages are subject to interpretation. And in a day when the only date most people remember for certain is April 15, it would be fascinating to know how the date February 17 was arrived at in the first place.

But 107 bets someone can supply the answer.

AWOL Pvt. Held On Theft Charge

A former Milam County youth, AWOL from the Army at Ft. Gordon, Georgia, has been charged with breaking and entering and burglary at the home of Mrs. Oma Little and is being questioned about other house burglaries reported in Cameron during the past two weeks.

Pvt. Jessie Ray Owens, 19, was charged in JP court Saturday with the theft of a purse from Mrs. Little's home. He is being held in Milam County Jail on $5000 bond.

Sheriff Carl Black said Owens was arrested at 10 p.m. Friday on West 8th Street following a call reporting an attempted burglary at 10th and Crockett. Earlier that evening Mrs. Little had reported the theft of a purse from her home and a billfold containing $40 had been taken from a residence at 1138 Madison.

City police and the Sheriff's office have investigated 15 burglary attempts in Cameron since February 23. Black told The Herald that in each case reported to him the intruder had entered homes between 9 and 11 p.m. when occupants were in other rooms, usually watching TV.

Mrs. Little had answered a ring at the front door while the intruder allegedly ran to the back, tore open the screen door and left with a purse that had been on the kitchen table.

Black said the abandoned Yoe house on North Houston was used as a hideout. Missing credit cards, emptied purses and discarded billfolds were found in a room on the first floor.

Hearing Wednesday On Gonzales Appeal

A hearing will be held in the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin Wednesday, March 15, on the appeal of Hipolito Gonzales from the 15-year sentence assessed against him when he was found guilty of murder with malice aforethought in June of 1966.

County Attorney John Henderson Jr. said Gonzales' grounds for appeal include alleged error in connection with trial procedures.

TWO CONTESTS SHAPE UP IN SCHOOL RACES

Only two school board elections in Milam County shaped into contested races as filing deadlines closed March 1.

Buckholts has four candidates for three places on the board and both incumbents on the Milano board are being opposed.

The Cameron board has two incumbents seeking re-election, Forrest Sapp and Charles McDermott, and Dr. John Martin who seeks election to the seat held by retiring Board President C. R. (Roy) Law.

Sapp, secretary of the Cameron board, said one other candidate had filed, but later withdrew his name from the race. Sapp and McDermott are both asking for election to a second three year term.

In Buckholts three board members did not seek re-election. Candidates for their places are Wilburn E. Beckhusen, Stanley J. Glaser, Henry Vaculin and Albert Svetlik.

(Pete) Graham and Leland Garrison.

In Milano, board members Arnold Kornegay and E. C. Westbrook Jr. are seeking re-election and opposing them are Bryan

Other candidates (all unopposed) for school boards across the county are:

Rockdale -- Incumbent Price Crow, purchasing agent at Alcoa's Rockdale Works, and the Rev. David Erskine, vicar at St. Thomas and All Saints Episcopal Churches. A third candidate, Fannie Lovelady, the first Negro ever to file in a Rockdale school election, withdrew her name from the contest last Wednesday.

Maysfield -- Earnest E. Dodd has filed for the place held by Kenneth Willy who announced earlier that he would not seek re-election.

Gause -- Incumbents O. F. Alford and W. L. Ditto.

Candidates for the County School Board are Bennie D. Williams for Precinct 3 (Rockdale, Milano, Gause area) and H. L. McMillan for Precinct 4 (Thorndale). Both are incumbents seeking 2 year terms.

School board elections will be April 1.

March 17 Deadline On Cotton, Wheat, Grain Allotments

The ASCS State Committee has extended the time for release of allotments and for filing applications for increases by reapportionment to March 17. Farmers who have cotton acreage that will not be planted or that need additional cotton acreage now have until that date to decide what they want to do, according to Alva Sanders, Milam ASCS manager.

March 17 will also be the final date for filing applications for the Upland Cotton, Feed Grain, and Wheat Programs.

Cotton producers applying for additional cotton acreage must sign their intention to participate in the Cotton Program no later than March 17, even though there is a possibility of increase in their allotment by reapportionment, Sanders said.

In order to retain full cotton history and preserve the allotment, cotton operators have the options consisting of releasing the allotment, signing an intention to participate in the cotton program, or planting.

Sanders pointed out that if cotton acreage has been released for two consecutive years, some cotton must be planted or considered planted during the current year if the farm is to retain the cotton allotment.

Farm operators are being urged not to postpone filing program applications because, as the deadline approaches, the county office is likely to be crowded causing delays.

City Will Enforce Stray Dog Order

Enforcement of a City ordinance calling for pickup of dogs not tagged and vaccinated has been called following reports of several rabid animals in the Cameron area.

City Secretary J. P. Fuller said arrangements had been made to vaccinate dogs from 12 noon to 3 p.m. Saturday (March 11) in the lot behind City Hall.

Fuller said the ordinance on stray dogs required that untagged animals be picked up, held at the City dog pound (next to the sewer plant) for three days and if unclaimed they must be destroyed.

No New Candidates For City Council

No additional candidates filed by the March 4 deadline at City Hall, leaving three places for Councilmen uncontested.

Candidates are: incumbents Starrett Hickmann and Lawrence Zotz and first termer John Hays, former Cameron postmaster.

Schiller Bill Asks Retroactive Ruling On Retirement Law

A bill to include former extension workers who are now teaching in recent retirement benefits was introduced in the House by Rep. Milton Schiller. The proposal, House Bill 93, was heard last week and is now in an Education subcommittee for study.

The bill calls for years service in Texas A&M extension work to be included in retirement benefits for teachers.

Present law allows the combination of extension work and teaching in retirement benefits, but it does not cover extension workers who changed to teaching positions before the law was enacted.

Shamsuzzoha: Ag Educator

Pakastani Views Milam Ag

By Frank M. Luecke

He will have a second master's degree and he will return to Dacca, Pakistan, University and teach agriculture education in a nation where food production is critical.

He is A. N. M. Shamsuzzoha, 28, graduate student in Agriculture Education at Texas A&M University, who visited last week in the County Agent's office in Cameron.

Food and fibre are big problems in Pakistan, a nation of two parts north of India, from which the parts were excised about 20 years ago.

Pakistan President Ayub Kahn has been quoted in the press as saying that in a decade, if a food crisis there is not prevented, "human beings will eat human beings."

80 PERCENT AGRICULTURAL

That describes the size of the problem, in a country 80 percent agricultural of 110 millions in an area about the size of Texas, Illinois and perhaps one other Midwest state.

His visit to Cameron was to study cotton crop methods for a day. He had been in the Extension Agent's office in Corsicana for about nine months doing research in cotton, cattle and 4-H work for a master's thesis he hopes to receive in July.

Shamsuzzoha is articulate. He speaks English with the inflection of the British-oriented education of the pre-partition days. Until 1947, Hindu India and Moslem Pakistan were one. He is Moslem.

His father earned degrees in law and liberal arts at Central Calcutta University in Calcutta, India, and is an administrator in the Pakistani government.

His native tongue is Bengali, one of numerous dialects spoken in East Pakistan. In West Pakistan, site of capital city Karachi, the dominant tongue is Erdu.

He says agriculture in Pakistan is developing an extension system something like the American extension program, broken down into 17 districts in East Pakistan, each district subdivided into five or six subdivisions.

A. N. M. Shamsuzzoha

His master's from A&M University and his master's in botany and bachelor's in agriculture from Dacca University will qualify him for a teaching post. He recognizes the critical needs his knowledge can serve in East Pakistan.

LITERACY UP

About 35 percent of the population is literate, up about 10 percent in the past 10 years, but earning capacity is less than $2 a day American for the field worker.

What of the country Shamsuzzoha and other educators seek to feed and enlighten?

Its climate, in both parts, is sub-tropical, the Pakistani climate similar to Texas. He says Bengal tigers are hunted in the north country, among the forests where trees something like the Texas pine grow and which make good furniture.

The Indus River in West Pakistan and the Padma River in East flow from the Himalaya Mountains to the sea. They are large rivers, comparable to the Missouri or Mississippi some places along their way.

The country they cross is dense with jute and cotton, the number one and two cash crops. Rice is the leading food crop.

Dairy, beef cattle in the Brahma and mixed lines including a breed something like the Santa Gertrudis are raised there.

The native population, which often resists efforts to raise crops under scientific agricultural methods, is primarily Moslem, but includes Hindu, Buddhist and Christian.

IMMENSE IMPORTANCE

Highly educated men like Shamsuzzoha, born near Dacca of educated parents, are in the vast minority. And their work through the University and agriculture system is immense in importance.

He says Pakistan's government, through scholarships for both public and private schools, is trying to draw college-trained men into agriculture education.

Perhaps it is well that Shamsuzzoha is a bachelor. The problems facing men of his kind would crowd family life in a city of one million, Dacca's population.

It may have the leisurely aspects of large-city university life, except that intense, knowledgable Shamsuzzoha is in a field at a time when the alternative to success isn't discussed.

Kunz' Condition Good After Crash Of Train, Auto

August Kunz, of Cameron, jumped from the path of a Santa Fe passenger train about 8 p.m. Sunday after trying to signal that his car was stalled on the Rusk Street crossing.

Seconds later, the 1955 Ford was demolished as the train, running three hours late, crashed into the vehicle.

Frank A. Rogers, of Cleburne, engineer of the south-bound train, told Sheriff Carl Black he saw Kunz trying to signal, but not in time to stop. Engine trouble Sunday afternoon had thrown the train about three hours off schedule.

Kunz was taken to St. Edward Hospital where he was treated for head lacerations and chest injuries. Wednesday, he was reported in good condition.

Girl Scout Chatter

The Cadettes and Juniors of the local Scout organization have just completed a successful Cookie Sale, having sold a total of 50 cartons and earned $66.80 for the local troops. These girls have really worked, and appreciate the cooperation of all the Cameron people who helped to make the sale such a success.

Girl Scout District IV, which includes Cameron, Rockdale, Taylor, Elgin, Georgetown, Round Rock, and Florence are planning a district-wide activity to be held May 6, from 9:30 to 3. It will be what is called a "wide-game" activity in scouting. The areas involved will be Citizenship, International Friendship, Discovery and Ready - Helpers. Representatives who have been to "Our Cabana" and "Our Chalet", International scouting establishments, will be on hand to add interest to the activity and to relate their experiences. About 200 girls are expected to participate.

The Brownies of troop 288 have been working on vases crafted in the shape of shoes, along with completing plans for their part in the upcoming Father-Daughter Banquet. They are currently planning a trip to Austin on April 1, and to Camp Texlake, the established Girl Scout Camp for our council, on April 22 to participate in "Brownie Discovery Day". Highlights of the rtip to Austin will be a tour of the University Museum and the state capitol.

Brownie troop 232 has just completed 8 posters which will be displayed throughout Cameron during Girl Scout Week. As part of their craft program they have been making glue pictures using cut-outs from magazines. They are now practicing their skit for the Father-Daughter Banquet to be held March 8.

A thoughtful observance of Valentine Day was the most recent venture of Brownie troop 377. They made Valentines for the rest home and then gave the residents there a special program. I bet that tickled the patients and made their day brighter! The Brownies have just finished making invitations for the Father-Daughter Banquet, and posters for use during Girl Scout Week. Visitors from the Senior Girl Scout troop visited them, acting as Program Aides, and helping with their work. This Brownie troop is also planning to attend "Brownie Discovery Day."

The Junior troop 369 has been busy planning their program for the banquet and making posters for Girl Scout Week. Watch for these to be displayed as part of the local group's observance of Girl Scout Week. One meeting a month of the troop is set aside for work on the individual girl's badges and for reports she may be required to make to the troop. These Junior Scouts have really proven themselves to be capable saleswomen. They recently sold 58 cartons of Girl Scout Cookies and earned for their troop a total of $34.80. Congratulations!

The most talked about event around Cadette Scout troop 314 is the council-sponsored style show they recently attended in Austin. Miss Donna Tindall, one of the troop members, was selected as a model for the show. The entire troop made a centerpiece for use at the style show. These Scouts have just finished their Challenge of Social Dependability, and are starting the Challenge of Active Citizenship. As part of the latter challenge they are planning to present a proclamation to the mayor of Cameron for Girl Scout Week. They are also working toward their First Class Badge, which requires earning one badge in each of four areas: Citizenship, First Aid, Out-of-Doors and Homemaking. As much fun as work for the girls was the recent baby shower which they gave for their assistant leader, Mrs. Ed Magre. It was a surprise and a successful one!

'COPIED NATURE' TO BUILD BETTER HEARING AID

Electronics engineers of Maico Electronics, pioneer manufacturer of hearing instruments, admit that they "copied nature" to develop a tiny new hearing aid that will permit many hard of hearing persons to enjoy more natural "directional" hearing.

The quarter-ounce aid, worn behind the ear, differs from most current aids in that its microphone faces forward, to pick up sound primarily from the direction the wearer is facing.

Introducing the new aid, a company spokesman said, "The human ear is shaped and located to act as a sound 'funnel' or collector, that enables us to hear things better by 'aiming' at them—turning our head toward the sound source. We simply adapted this fact of nature to this new aid by putting the microphone up front, so it is 'aimed' in the direction the wearer is facing. The result is more natural hearing, with better localization of sound."

The new aid, called "DirectionEar", also features Maico's exclusive "Tone Selector Tuning", which enables it to be closely adjusted to compensate for individual hearing problems. It can be seen locally at

Mr. Ted C. Lucenay will hold a Hearing Aid Service Center in the Milam Hotel (Downtown) 113 Main St. Cameron, Texas, Tuesday, March 14th 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

Rogers Schools Have Open House Grandparent Day

ROGERS

The big feature of Public Schools Week in the Rogers Public Schools this week will be Open House Thursday night from 7 until 9 p.m.

Open House will be promoted by the Rogers Parent Teacher Association, with Mrs. Darrell Hensen as president. The committees appointed by Mrs. Hensen are: Mrs. Woodrow Chervenka, general chairman; Mrs. A. J. Lesikar and Mrs. Elsie Schneider, publicity; Mrs. Riley Gilleland, Mrs. Hensen, and Mrs. Fred Spinn, registration; Mrs. Edwin A. Smith Jr., and Mrs. Hulon Farrell, refreshments; Mrs. Daniel Hoelscher, awards.

Refreshments will be served throughout the evening in the gym area. Teachers will be hosts in their respective rooms to talk with visitors and to show them work done by their students throughout the year.

Wednesday was designated "Grandparents Day" in the Rogers schools. This was to recognize the older citizens of the community and especially to encourage them to keep up their interest in young people and children and in their school system.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, fifty-five years ago this coming twelfth of March, Nineteen Hundred and Sixty Seven, twelve young girls gathered together in the Savannah, Georgia, home of Juliette Gordon Low and thus became the first troop in an organization that today directly enriches the lives of more than three million young people and the adults who work with them; and

WHEREAS, members of this organization, Girl Scouts of the United States of America, by the daily living of their Promise to do their duty to God and Country, to help other people at all times, and to obey the Girl Scout Laws of loyalty, honesty, courtesy, cheerfulness, usefulness, kindness and thrift, in turn enrich the communities in which they live; and

WHEREAS, Girl Scouts of the United States of America has set as its theme for the triennium beginning in this 55th Birthday Year, "Values to Hold -- Worlds to Explore"; and

WHEREAS, within this theme, Girl Scouts have a twofold purpose: to strive to apply the verities of character, conduct, patriotism and service in an age in which those verities can so easily be lost; and to more vigorously explore the worlds about them -- worlds of home, community, nation and other lands -- thereby bringing further understanding to their own lives and the lives of others;

NOW, THEREFORE, I Bassel Wilson by virtue of the authority vested in me as Mayor of Cameron, Texas hereby proclaim March 12 through 18 of this year 1967 as Girl Scout Week and March 12 as the 55th Anniversary of the founding of Girl Scouting in the United States of America. I, therefore, call upon all citizens to give the Girl Scouts now and in the coming year their continued interest, cooperation and support so that increasing numbers of girls ages seven through 17 may benefit and, in their turn, bring greater benefit to the lives their lives touch.

Triumph For The Tube . . . .

Television, in a search for taste, found it in one evening Monday night.

One network beamed a good performance of the fine musical, "Brigadoon", while another split the prime time with actor Hal Holbrook's incredible interpretation of Mark Twain.

Watching youngsters watching "Brigadoon" was quite an experience. Those in one household, at least, were engrossed in the melodic artistry of the Scottish myth place called "Brigadoon."

Holbrook's readings of Twain's boyhood Mississippi River and incisive observations on people are powerful stuff. It is not the kind of drama often seen on television.

We wonder what the ratings were. Higher, maybe, than the "Monkees" on their own show or the "Beatles" on Ed Sullivan's.

Perhaps it is curious that good musical theatre comes from a late-'40's musical or that Holbrook's Twain whangs out, like Haley's Comet, from the century's turn. Perhaps it is pre-Post-War classic, something arts and letters is uncertain of these days.

It was a triumph for the tube.

What Others Say . . . .

Is Nothing Sacred? . . . .

As the years race by we reflect often on our collegiate career, invariably recalling that F in trigonometry and that D in Latin. To those alphabetical indices of an idly-spent youth we have long attributed our subsequent modest measure of success. There is simply no limit to what we might have become had we but applied ourselves remorselessly to the rigors of Pliny the Elder and logarithms, we have grown quite fond of telling ourselves.

Our accustomed reverie has now been shattered by a report from Edwin J. Shoben Jr., who bears the formidable title of director of the Commission on Academic Affairs of the American Council on Education. Mr. Shoben says that an analysis of 50 independent studies shows there is no correlation between good grades in college and later success. It would probably be just as well if Mr. Shoben's findings did not receive wide dissemination on college campuses, but that is not what bothers us.

If there is no correlation between good grades and later success, the corollary would seem to be that there is no correlation between poor grades and later failure. If this be so, Mr. Shoben, with one cruel kick, has deprived us of the crutch we have been using all these years to explain our lack-luster performance in the great arena of free enterprise.

Now we are forced to cast about for another source of consolation. Since it was not our good fortune to have been the product of a broken home or to have had a domineering mother, we'll have to fall back on the fact that we were a nursery school dropout. It isn't nearly as comforting as our F in trigonometry and our D in Latin, and for that we fully intend to blame the meddlesome Mr. Shoben.

Major Legislation Passed By House

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

Three pieces of major legislation passed by the House now have landed on the Senate's doorstep. These include:

—Local option authority for financially distressed Texas cities to levy a one-percent sales tax. (Vote: 85-63).

—A stiff code of ethics for legislators and other state officials and employees. Vote: 140-6).

—Repeal of "emergency purchase" provisions to put teeth in Sunday closing laws. (Vote: 132-14)

Before passing the city sales tax bill, sponsored by Rep. John Traeger of Seguin, the House spent nearly three hours of continuous debate and waded through more than 30 amendment attempts.

Advocates predict a majority vote in the Senate, too. But no action is expected across the rotunda until after rules suspension eases with passage of the session's 60 day mark.

Code of ethics bill, by Rep. Jim Nugent of Kerrville, made its third trip through the House. Substantially the same bill has been approved by representatives in two prior sessions but died in the Senate. Same fate is anticipated this time for what advocates term "one of the strictest codes in the United States."

Measure would require lawmakers to disclose personal interest in legislation, force legislators and state officials and employees to reveal substantial interests in private businesses and require identification of relatives on the state payroll.

Surprisingly, the strengthened Sunday closing law, introduced by Rep. Willis J. Whatley of Houston, cleared the House in seven minutes. Only one comment was made. Smooth sailing also is anticipated in the Senate. (What this law will do to tourist spending has never been mentioned.

TIME OUT - First big break in one of the session's closest-fought contests—over whether Texas should go on Daylight Saving Time—came when the Senate state affairs committee approved the exemption bill.

Theater owners, restaurant operators and farmers backed the bill, by Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso, to continue Texas on Central Standard Time. (After April 1 the new federal Uniform Time Act goes into effect everywhere except where state legislators vote otherwise. Only one state, South Dakota, so far has passed an exemption act.

Panel was unimpressed with arguments of television broadcasters, railroad and airline spokesmen that the state must stay in time with the rest of the nation.

Same bill, heard in House state affairs committee, was referred to subcommittee and has not yet emerged.

VETERINARY LABORATORY - Bill to create a Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory for Texas farmers and ranchers at Texas A&M University has been sent to the Governor for his signature.

Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria and Sen. Bill Patman of Ganado, sponsors of the bill, said the laboratory will be located on property which will be given to the state by the A&M Board of Regents. Purpose of the laboratory is to give speedy and accurate analyses of samples from possibly diseased animals to help local veterinarians diagnose and treat the animals.

MIGRANT LIVING - House Public Health Committee—considering a bill to set up state standards for farm worker housing—heard testimony last week from state officials of the insanitary living conditions of the 162,000 migrant farm workers in Texas.

Committee sent the bill along to a sub-committee, after such officials as Col. Egon Tausch of the migrant section of the Texas Good Neighbor Commission gave case studies of migrant conditions and pointed out that cases of infant dysentery often range as high as 30 percent among the children of farm workers.

FEED LOT BILL MOVES - A feed lot license bill was approved by the House agriculture committee. Sponsor is Rep. Tom Holmes of Granbury.

It sets standards of sanitation in livestock feeding operations under authority of the Texas Animal Health Commission and fixes these annual licensing fees: $25 for lots that feed under 1,000 head; $100 for 1,000 to 3,000 head; $150 for 3,000 to 10,000 head; and $200 for over 10,000 head. Licenses are optional for lots feeding under 1,000.

Under amendments, the Commission would have to act in 30 days on license applications.

Water Pollution Control Board and Air Control Board regulations would prevail in "matters falling within their jurisdiction."

Committee also approved a bill to raise fines and penalties (up to $200 per head for improperly transporting animals from fever tick quarantine areas.

LOCAL OFFICIALS' RAISE - County auditors and precinct officials would make substantial monetary gains under a pair of bills being sponsored in the House by Reps. Vernon Beckham of Denison and Dick Cory of Victoria.

Beckham's bill would let county commissioners courts pay mileage reimbursement to county auditors for travel in their line of duty. House Committee on Counties referred that measure to a sub-committee for further consideration.

Cory's bill would allow commissioners courts to raise the salaries of justices of the peace and constables up to 20 percent over what they now earn. Committee favorably reported this one back to the House floor where it now is awaiting action.

LIVESTOCK MARKETS - Sen. Wayne Connally of Floresville and Rep. Charles Jungmichel of La Grange have introduced legislation to place greater emphasis on encouraging the construction, development and expansion of services and facilities of livestock markets in Texas.

Connally's bill would establish a charter-fee system to govern livestock markets and to create a seven-member Public Livestock Board in the state government to grant charters and supervise the markets where livestock are auctioned.

"We have seen in the last 10 to 15 years a vast improvement in bank facilities and an expansion of their services," the Senator said. "The same results can be obtained by providing the proper basis for establishing and developing livestock markets."

MOVIE REGULATION - Every incorporated city and town in Texas would be required to set up a "Motion Picture Classification Board" to preview every movie to be shown in that city and classify it as "suitable" or "not suitable" for persons under age 18 by a bill introduced in the House by Rep. Cordell Hull of Fort Worth.

Hull said that cities now have the authority for such regulation, but his bill would make the board mandatory and would provide guidelines for classifying movies. Board would be composed of nine members appointed by the city's governing body for two-year terms.

TEACHING OF SPANISH Rep. Ralph Wayne of Plainview has introduced a bill requiring public schools to offer courses in Spanish to students in the second, third, and fourth grades.

Wayne's bill, now in the House Education Committee, would require that within five years after passage of the bill, every elementary school in the state begin teaching Spanish to students in at least those three grades.

It also provides that the State Board of Education furnish textbooks and recorded Spanish exercises to the school districts without cost to the students.

COURTS SPEAK - U. S. Supreme Court rejected a challenge of the Texas law which provides penalties up to $1,000 a day for operating slant hole oil wells.

High court wrote no opinion in ruling that it would not hear arguments on the state law dealing with violators of the prohibition against angle drilling across another property owner's or lease holder's boundary.

A total of $304,800 in fines are involved in appeal. But petitioners claimed the state is seeking fines and penalties ranging into millions of dollars in 100 similar cases.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Old Philosopher Plans To Do His Part To Keep Down The High Cost Of Civilization

Dear editar:

Two or three weeks ago I found a farm magazine out here on this Johnson grass farm, you know, most farm magazines are edited by city people in big cities and I've often wondered why some enterprising farmers don't start publishing a magazine out in the country designed to advise city people how to operate, at any rate, there was an article in this magazine that said a survey has found that weeds are costing American agriculture approximately 3 billion dollars a year.

I didn't pay too much attention to this, I don't know what my weeds are costing me but I know what it would cost me to get rid of them and I don't see any point in adding to the 3 billion and being tired to boot, but a few days later I read in a newspaper that crime in this country is costing an estimated 20 billion dollars a year, counting what the criminals steal, what it costs to try to catch them, to try them, to pay the salaries of the Supreme Court which lets them off, to head the others off, to protect the public, etc.

Then a few days later I read that automobile wrecks are costing about 15 billion dollars a year, counting loss of life, property damage, hospitalization, etc.

Then of sourse the President's budget came out, allotting 72 billion for defense alone. And also the space program has already cost 20 billion dollars and we've gotten only 300 miles out, with billions of miles still ahead of us.

I got to figuring up all these expenses and I got to wondering, is it really a paying proposition? I mean, can we afford to be civilized?

Can we afford to live?

Then I talked with a man who spent a long time in a hospital, and he claims you can't afford to get sick either.

Personally, I think we're going to make it somehow, but I'd prefer that they not publish all these figures. They make my head swim.

I intend to take action however. When the weeds show up on this Johnson grass farm this spring, I intend to ignore them. The economy is burdened enough as it is.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

1966 TEXAS CALF CROP

The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service says the 1966 calf crop for the state was up 1 percent from 1965 and totaled 4,695,000 head. The increase, they said, was the result of the larger percent calf crop. Nationally, the calf crop was down very slightly but it was the first decline in the number of calves born from the previous year since 1958.

Fair Price For Farmer Said Imperative In War On Hunger

Congressman W. R. (Bob) Poage (D-Tex), Chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture, declared today fair prices for farmers are imperative "if we are to win the world war on hunger."

In a statement prepared for the opening of the Committee's public hearings on Food-for-India resolutions, the Texan stressed that the 1967 expansion of America's food production, to help feed hungry people abroad, already has contributed to a decline in prices received by farmers for grains.

He reported that farm prices have dropped in the United States for five consecutive months, that such prices now actually are 8 percent below what farmers received in 1947, two decades ago, that wheat now brings the farmer a blend price of about $2.14 a bushel (including Government payments to wheat producers), while in 1947 the farmer received $2.29 a bushel.

Meanwhile, in these 20 years, Mr. Poage pointed out, the average wage in manufacturing industries has increased by 123 percent, and corporate dividends by 232 percent. Government price supplements and land retirement payments to farmers help some, but not enough, he said.

The Committee Chairman said: "The question now is how do we protect the farmer, in this new goal of abundance to provide assured plenty for our own people and to participate effectively in this world war on hunger?

"This question must enter the consideration of the resolutions before us, and every other consideration that relates to our agriculture, for there is a larger question, and it is this: How long can the American farmer, or any other farmer, keep producing abundantly without a price in the marketplac to reward him for his management and labor and enable him to pay today's prices for the machinery, the chemicals and other inputs needed to maintain and constantly improve his efficiency?

"I am sure this Committee, the Congress and the Nation approve these resolutions for food aid to India. I hope this Nation realizes that this aid is possible only through the enterprise of our farm people, and I pray that all our people will see to it, through proper policy and programs, that there is no interruption in our outpouring of food abundance because our farmers are poorly treated and are unable through their meager profits to sustain what is now the greatest, the most efficient plant for the production of food and fiber in all the world."

The Texan commented that "I think we must constantly keep in mind that if the incentives for our farmers, the rewards for their enterprise, were as meager as in some other nations, we might go hungry here in these United States."

"The ultimate salvation of India and, indeed, of other developing areas of the world," he said, "is a greater infusion of free enterprise, with the incentives for self-sufficiency, that have created abundance in our own country."

Ag Committee Asks Amendment On Wage Ruling

The U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Agriculture last week adopted the following resolution on minimum wage in agriculture:

WHEREAS: By an act of the Congress in 1966, a minimum wage is being applied to agricultural workers in 1967 for the first time in history; and

WHEREAS: Prices received by farmers for what they produce now are actually 8 percent below what they were in 1947, while the wages of manufacturing labor during these last 20 years have increased by 123 percent, and the dividends paid by corporations by 232 percent; and

WHEREAS: Agriculture now is caught in a cost-price squeeze, farm prices have declined for five consecutive months, so that the parity ratio now stands at only 75 and the costs of tractors and other machinery, chemicals, and other inputs required by farmers to produce their crop have advanced by 47 percent, and the average wages paid by farmers already are up by 108 percent compared with 20 years ago; and

WHEREAS: Farmers employing the workers now being blanketed under the minimum wage, unlike employers in industry, are unable to set the price on what they produce to cover the increased wage costs, but must continue to take whatever the markets offer; and

WHEREAS: Many farmers will be forced to close down their operations completely, or severely reduce the number of employees, because of the increased costs, and this threatens to bring on another migration of large numbers of farm workers into the slums of the cities; and

WHEREAS: The suffering in the creation of unemployment and the uprooting of people in Rural America will greatly outweigh any advantages which may be gained by workers through application of a Federal minimum wage for agriculture until such time as farm income is improved to the extent that this income will cover increases of wages; NOW, THEREFORE

BE IT RESOLVED: That the Committee on Agriculture, in the interest of farm workers and employers alike, and of consumers, recommends the enactment of legislation amending the Fair Labor Standards Act, providing that the minimum wage as applied by present law shall apply in no year following a year in which the unadjusted parity ratio stands at a level below 100.

Band Pecan Trees For Spraying Date

By J. D. Moore

Pecan tree banding to trap the migrating casebearer larvae has been of great value in determining the right time to spray pecan trees for the control of this insect. The casebearer passes the winter as a partially grown larva in a tiny silken cocoon which is usually attached to a bud near the tips of pecan limbs. In the spring, the larvae feed for a short time on the buds, then crawl down the limb looking for a place to pupate. Many of the larva pupate in grooves between the rough bark on the pecan limbs.

To collect some of the pupae for observation, a burlap sack is folded to a width of 8 to 10 inches and wrapped around the pecan limb just above where the "rough" bark starts. The burlap furnishes a suitable place for the tiny worm to hide and change to the pupa stage.

During late March the limbs should be banded. One limb on several trees in an orchard is sufficient.

A family with two or three trees in their yard may band two or three limbs for observation. Pupae may be collected during the last part of April. This is done by making frequent visits to inspect the banded limbs. When pupae are found under the burlap, they should be placed in a glass jar. A few holes punched in the lid will permit air to enter the jar.

Pupae collected at the Anderle orchard by the county agent last year were found the first part of May. The first papae changed to an adult on May 13. Trees should generally be sprayed about 5 days after the first adult moth hatches. Our demonstration trees were sprayed on May 19 last year with good control.

Those in the Rockdale area may contact Mr. M. S. Pugh for more information. Those in the Cameron area may contact the county agent.

4-H CLUB

By Ronald Bailey

Wayne Jistel and Melvin Hollas, Cameron 4-H'ers, participated in the largest Calf Scramble in the world at the Houston Livestock Show. They entered the Dairy Calf Scramble held Sunday night, Mar. 5.

In the Calf Scramble it's twelve calves in the ring and twenty-four 4-H and FFA boys. Only twelve boys win by catching a calf, haltering it and pulling it across a finish line. And in the Astrodome there is a whole lot of room to ramble in.

Melvin and Wayne crossed the finish line with calves and will receive $200 each to purchase a Dairy calf. The calf must be entered in the Houston Livestock Show in 1968.

Mr. Hubert Jistel and Ronald Bailey went to Houston with the boys.

The first commercial ice plant in the United States was operated in Jefferson, Texas, about 1874.

Lester McCulloch In Vietnam Assault

USS ELDORADO

Boatswain's Mate Second Class Lester J. McCulloch, USN, son of Mr. Henry L. McCulloch of 1309 N. Travis, Cameron, participated in Operation Deckhouse VI off the coast of Quang Ngai Province, Vietnam, as a crewmember aboard the amphibious command ship Eldorado.

His ship served as flagship and command center for the Commander of the Seventy Fleet Amphibious Force, who observed the assault.

Deckhouse VI was a search and destroy operation aimed at a major infiltration point for enemy troops and supplies along the northern coast of South Vietnam. The area contained fortified bunkers, trench systems and an extensive salt production industry controlled by the enemy.

As the Marine landing team pushed inland, the Eldorado stood offshore with other naval elements and performed her vital role as communications link between the ships and major commands involved in the operation.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

What will the assay prove? Will the nuggets that spill so enticingly from the old leather bag spell the end of a search, the culmination of lifelong hopes for sudden wealth and fortune? Or will they be iron pyrite, the fooler of men—disappointer of dreams? Only chemical analysis of the metal will determine its ingredients.

Sometimes our lives are like that. We fill them to the brim with the things we think mean happiness. And then along comes a blow — perhaps it is a failure of our own, or the betrayal of our trust by a loved one, or an overwhelming grief. Suddenly a life full of glittering trappings seems empty and meaningless. We realize that material possessions are comfortless and cold, without substance.

Spiritual analysis of life points always to God. His Church is the open door to the real treasure of life — the realization of God as the source of all affluence.

Mrs. Bradbury Injured In Two-Car Crash

Mrs. C. W. Bradbury is in St. Edward Hospital following a two-car accident on US 77 four miles south of Rosebud at 10:45 a.m. Saturday.

Highway Patrolman Milton Wright said the car in which Mrs. Bradbury was a passenger was hit from behind by a 1961 Chevrolet driven by Mrs. Shirley Bryant of Corpus Christi. Both cars crashed into an embankment following the first impact. Wright said the vehicles were totally demolished.

Mrs. Bryant was cited for failure to control speed, according to Wright.

Mrs. Bradbury was a passenger in a 1964 Ford driven by her daughter, Mrs. James Kircheville of Houston when the accident occurred. Other passengers included Mr. Kircheville and their son Kelvin.

Mrs. Kircheville and Mrs. Bryant were treated for cuts at St. Edwards. Mrs. Bradbury suffered a broken knee-cap. Other passengers in both cars were not injured.

Big fish get that way — BIG — because they are cautious.

Unless starved or angry, they don't smash a bait or lure the instant it strikes water.

Keep this in mind! Pace your fishing and you'll be rewarded with lunker catches.

In this swiftly moving age in which we're living too many lure fishermen copy the jets and fish too fast. They cast out and retrieve, cast out and retrieve.

Too many lure anglers go under the assumption that if a fish does not grab the lure within seconds after it hits the water, the thing to do is to reel in rapidly and cast out again.

A. C. Becker Jr., outdoor editor of the Galveston News, has had the good fortune to observe feeding habits of both fresh water and salt water fish in several private, as well as public, oceanariums in Florida and Texas.

In the oceanariums he noted that the only fish to quickly dash in to grab food were the little ones. This is particularly true of the species that fishermen often refer to as "bait-stealers."

He noted that large fish quickly move within chomping range of the baits offered. But they always spend a little time contemplating before actually taking the baits into their mouths.

A good example is the manner in which large redfish feed along the bottom of the Sea-Arama oceanarium, which is located at Galveston. Before taking a piece of bait, the big reds will smell it a few times and even push it around a bit with their noses.

Often the small bait-stealers dash ahead and steal the food right from under the redfishes' noses. Even so, this doesn't excite the big reds into doing anything foolish.

Other large fish feed in much the same manner, although not quite as slowly as the redfish.

Fish of many species mingle together. This even though some of the fish naturally feed on the species that are nearby. But again the big fish don't go charging around smashing into small fish. That is, they don't as long as the small fish remain schooled up and give every appearance of having a lot of energy.

But whenever a small fish strays from the school or starts swimming about, as if crippled, the big fellows move in quickly for the kill.

Perhaps, to some degree, this explains why artificial lures that have darting motions are effective fish-getters.

Bluegills showed reckless abandon in charging the lures as soon as they struck the water. They would go after the same lure time and time again.

Crappie were a bit more cagey. As soon as they discovered a lure wasn't worth eating, they quit the area.

Bass, however, were downright super- slueths in thoroughly fish-eyeing the plugs before making contact.

There are times, however, when bass hit first and think later. But this only occurs during the spawning season when the fish become very aggressive in protecting their nests.

Lure fishermen would do well to take every opportunity to observe the feeding habits of fish. Knowledge gained will help them pace their fishing in such a manner as to reap the most rewards.

One thing for sure, it will certainly stack the odds in favor of the angler.

IRS Questions . . .

Q - Where do I report money from a pension?

A - File Schedule B with your Form 1040 to report this income.

Q - We paid sales tax on a color TV as well as a new car last year. Can we add this to the amount shown in the sales tax table?

A - You may add the sales tax paid on the car to the amount shown in the sales tax table but not the tax paid on the television set. Of course, if you can show you actualy paid an amount greater than shown by the table, you may deduct this greater amount.

Q - Our son works a paper route. Will he have to file an income tax return?

A - A return is required if he earned $600 or more for the year. He should also file a return to get a refund if his income was less than $600 and income tax was withheld from his pay.

Q-I heard there was some new procedure for taxpayers who are over-withheld because of the new procedure for taxpayers who are over-withheld because of the nwe graduated rates. Where can I find out about this?

A - Instructions for claiming additional withholding allowances based on large itemized deductions are explained in Schedule A of Form W-4. Copies have been supplied to employers and are available at local IRS offices.

To reduce withholding under this procedure a taxpayer must have filed a return on 1966 income.

Q - Looking over some of the settlement costs I paid when I bought my house, I noticed an item for county transfer tax and another for revenue stamps. Are these deductible?

A - No, these costs are not deductible when paid in connection with the purchase of a house, but they should be added into the cost basis of your house.

The two main items a homeowner may deduct are real estate taxes and interest paid on mortgage loans.

Q - What's the Social Security tax rate on self-employment income?

A - Net earnings from self-employment are taxed at a rate of 6.15 percent for 1966. This rate goes up to 6.4 percent for 1967 earnings.

Q-Do you have to be 65 to take advantage of retirement income credit?

A - No you don't. If you retire before reaching age 65 under a public retirement system you may be eligible to use this provision of the tax law.

Q - I read in the papers where some taxpayers have gotten their tax refunds already. Are you getting them out faster than last year?

A - The time it takes to process complete, accurate returns is little different from last year. However, taxpayers who file early will find that refunds will be processed faster.

To avoid delays in receiving refunds, be sure to check whether all the information required has been supplied. Missing signatures, W-2 forms, Social Security numbers and supporting forms and schedules will all hold up expected refunds.

Q - Where can I find a good tax man to help me with my return?

A - Local accounting and legal societies will be able to provide a list of qualified tax advisers in this area. If you just have several questions about your return you may be able to get the help you need from your local IRS office.

Q - My wife earned only a few hundred dollars in salary last year. Does she have to file a return on this income?

A - Your wife's income should be combined with your income to determine the community income in the State of Texas. Then if one-half the community income is $600 or more, your wife must file a return. Generally, a joint return of husband and wife is to your advantage. If either you or your wife file a seperate return, the other may not be claimed as an exemption.

Q - Can I deduct the Federal tax shown on my monthly phone bill?

A - No. Federal excise taxes are not deductible as an itemized deduction.

Q - I sold shares of stock in a company I have been investing in for years. How do I identify the purchase price of the shares I sold since I bought them at various times at various prices?

A - The principle that applies here when no other price identification can be made is "first-in, first-out". In other words consider the shares you sold first to be the first ones you bought and use their cost, the next shares you bought to be the second ones you sold and so on.

Q - I received some dividends last year I was not entitled to because they were declared after I sold the stock. I returned the dividend check, but I now have a copy of a statement showing the amount as having been paid to me. Should I ignore this statement when I file my Federal tax return?

A - Only report the correct amount of dividends on your return. You should also notify the corporation paying the dividends of the error in their statement so a correction can be made. An explanation of the error should also be attached to your return.
